We TIP Aids Results In Heroin Haul

An arrest of five individuals, including two from Placentia, reported last week by the Pomona Police Department, has resulted in the seizure of 24 ounces of heroin with a street sale value of $145,000...considered a major haul.

The arrest resulted from information supplied by We Tip, (Turn In a Pusher) a non-profit group started in February, 1972, to encourage individuals, unidentified, to pass on information they might have on illegal drug activity.

The effort has been supported locally and actively for the past three years by members of the Junior Round Table.

A spokesman for We Tip this week said that the informal group has to date collected information which has led to 952 arrests, 511 convictions and a value of seizures of illegal drugs and narcotics amounting to $15,515,560.

A side effect is the stolen property frequently recovered when drug arrests are made and that has amounted to $46,757.

Individuals, who are not permitted to give their names, who have information on illegal drug activities, are encouraged to call toll free 800-472-7785 from any place in the state of California from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

A reward of $500 also is given on conviction of a drug pusher from such information.

The recent arrests were for the possession and sale of heroin.

Death Of El Dorado Coed Brings Law Suit To Courts

Following the death of a pretty, red-haired El Dorado High School coed in a traffic accident, the parents of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Nerone of 1116 Montecito, Placentia, have instituted legal proceedings.

The 16-year-old girl, Mary Nerone, whose birthday was two days before, died in December, 1974 following the overturn of a small Datsun pickup truck in which she was reportedly riding in the open bed. The accident, involving only the truck, took place at 12:20 noon on a school day.

Scene of the tragedy was the corner of Bastanchury Road and Tuffree Boulevard.

Attorney for the Nerones, Robert L. Schatz, also a Placentia resident, said this week that a complaint for wrongful death is being sought against Walter J. Foster, alleged driver of the vehicle; Clarence I. Wandersee, reported owner of the truck; Joseph Funicello, reported driver of a similar vehicle also allegedly in the immediate traffic at that time; the Placentia Unified School District and 20 John and Jane Does.

Also sought as a composite amount from all defendants are damages of $152,337.35, Schatz reported.

Expected to be involved in the suit is the question of the extent of the responsibility of school authorities, who now have an open campus policy at the Placentia Unified School District's three high schools,

Placentia-Prompted Resolution Rejected

A report which emanated from the Placentia Police Department at the request of Councilman Jack Gomez to determine the extent of the illegal alien problem in the city of Placentia, was still drawing comment last week.

Presented before the Orange County Division of the League of California Cities two weeks ago, as a committee worded resolution to be forwarded to Washington, D.C., the paper ran into a confrontation with a number of Mexican-American group representatives.

Most objectionable in the paper was the suggestion that if the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service did not carry out its duties, local police should fill the void.

Al Serrato, director of the Friendly Center in Orange, representative of the American GI Forum, a predominantly Mexican-American group, said that a meeting, requested by the League was held last week in the city of Orange Library to receive input from the many organizations.

The consensus from the group, he reported, was that League members in the resolution were trying to find simple answers for complex questions and were seeking a short cut which would not be satisfactory to innocent persons who might be caught up and harassed in the process.

"We found the entire resolution objectionable because of intent," Serrato reported, "and recommended that it be completely defeated."

Serrato said that a recommendation was made by the group that a task force be set up by the League to study the entire problem for 90 days. "There was not enough expertise shown in dealing with the problem," he reported.

A special meeting of the League committee will be held on August 6, preceding the next League of Cities meeting on August 14 where the resolution will be discussed.

PUSD Budget Passes Without Wage Pact

A 12.9 per cent wage boost and benefit package, representing considerably more than three-quarters of a million dollars, went unaccepted Monday night as trustees of the Placentia Unified School District formally included the wage package within a $23 million budget.

Approval of the annual budget followed several evening hours of "meet and confer" with teacher representatives of the Placentia Unified Education Association conducted with board representative, Superintendent of Schools John O. Tynes.

The conferences were in progress simultaneously with a meeting of the school board at the PUSD administrative center.

Teachers exiting from the conference said they had no comment on the offer or the proceedings.

With classified PUSD employees already signed on the bottom line for a 5 per cent increase in wages, teachers have been holding out for a 12.7 per cent across the board boost.

Read by President of the school board, Dr. William Yates at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday morning, the offer included: an across-the-board 6 per cent increase for all teachers salaries; an addition of a 13th step to the salary schedule for .7 of 1 per cent increase; a mandatory health insurance plan for all employees and their families with the employee paying $10 tenthly for coverage of spouse or other dependents.

Also, a $10,000 life insurance policy for all employees; an annual physical examination and prescriptions for all employees, with spouse and dependent coverage optional. This would be added to the already secured 4.2 per cent step advances and 1 per cent column advances for completed additional education and length of service.

In addition the board agreed that any emergency education monies received from the state of California for general purposes would be apportioned with 55 per cent of the amount going to employees as a one time January bonus.

The remainder of that money would be used to increase the unit budget with emphasis on language arts and math, restoration of positions deleted from the budget on a priority basis, capital improvements and other board priorities.

The board made it clear that all additional benefits over and above the 5 per cent across the board raise for which the classified personnel signed, would also accrue to them.

Dr. Yates said that in making the offer to the employees, concerning the status of the budget, that the trustees "had entered the area of risk. It is the best offer you will find in the state I would think," Dr. Yates continued, "and certainly in Orange County."

John Tynes estimated that the package offered would amount to the more than $816,000 in the annual budget for which previously no precise use had been designated.

Action by the board was taken by three members who voted unanimously. John Press, in attendnace earlier had to leave and John Balducci was excused from the meeting for other business.

Nationals Apprehended

Another search for illegal aliens in the city of Placentia, by the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service assisted by Placentia police, resulted in the apprehension of 11 persons, Placentia Police Chief Norman Traub reported last week.

The search was instigated by the federal department on the premises of a Placentia business.

Chief Traub said that two of the 11 individuals involved had also been apprehended on a roundup of 110 Mexican Nationals two weeks ago and returned to Mexico. They had reentered in time for the second apprehension.

Lewis Place Homeowners Make Appeal

Residents of Lewis Place, whose homes back up to the south end of the Sierra Vista Shopping Center, have filed an appeal with the Placentia City Council, the group reported this week.

The home owners, heard recently by the city's planning commission, lost a plea for a high wall in back of their properties to shield them from the noise, traffic, access and other problems besetting their conjuction with a large commercial area.

The homes are contiquous with an elevated alley which services the Pantry Market and on which 31,000 feet of new commercial construction was approved recently by the city's planning commission.

A spokesman for the shopping center estimated that a new 8-foot wall the homeowners are requesting at the back of their lots would cost $15,000 for the 600 feet down the alley. That cost covers demolishing the present wall and building a sturdier and higher one.

The homeowners state in their council appeal that they would be willing to take the responsibility for the demoltion of the current wall if a new one will be provided by the owners of the commercial center, which will contain several large businesses.

The city council hearing is expected to be scheduled for August 19. The center is located on the southeast corner of Bastanchury Road and Placentia Avenue

GOOD NEWS AND BAD NEWS--The Bad News was the Austin-Healey above demolished by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe freight just before 4 a.m. Sunday at the intersection of Kraemer Boulevard and Crowther Avenue. The Good News; owner Ken Kisselburg, Covina walked away from the scene before the echoing impact. Bill Heath from Slim's Towing, prepares to haul the car away.

Westbound Freight Totals Small Car

A predawn crash Sunday of a Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe freight train with a compacted Austin Healey, left the car a shambles but the train undamaged and car owner Ken Kisselburg, Covina unharmed.

The wreck occurred about 3:50 a.m. Sunday when Kisselburg's southbound small car became wedged in the tracks at Kraemer Boulevard and Crowther Avenue. Kisselburg, had alighted from the car and was trying to retrieve it by jacking it up before the rush of the oncoming train. He gave up seconds before the impact and ran to safety.

"I decided to give up on the car and save myself," he explained. "The engineer hit the emergency, but he couldn't stop it in time," Kisselburg added.

The train dragged the small automobile about 500 feet, Bill Heath of Slim's Towing Service, Anaheim, estimated. "It's a miracle there wasn't major damage to the engine," Heath reported. "Usually there is."

The automobile was towed away and Kisselburg, visibly shaken retired with the members of the Placentia police department to seek other transportation. At the scene was Placentia Police Officer Russell Rice.

Moments after the standing train cleared the tracks, an eastbound train followed in seconds, pursued quickly by two other west bound carriers. Train personnel said however, that it had not been necessary to hold up any of the scheduled runs.

Vietnamese Refugees Find Homes Here

A small colony of 50 persons, bound together by the number of things they have in common, are now citizens of the city of Placentia.

Their guardian angel is Placentia's Calvary Church.

Citizens of another land a short time ago, they have been catapulted into the land of the free by the unfavorable fortunes of war, which left them homeless and in most cases penniless. They have arrived in this big, broad country from their homeland, which is about the size of the state of Texas.

With them has come more than their due portion of heartbreaks and a sense of foreboding.

They were all a short time ago, residents of South Vietnam.

Most arrived at Camp Pendleton, Tent City by the Sea; most without benefit of possessions and many with members of their families left behind in a land no longer open or welcome to them.

Most do not speak the English language.

Placentia's Calvary Church, a nondenominational, self-sustaining entity with an active program that reaches into many facets of living, came by their Vietnamese project almost by accident.

The United States government, in an effort to educate promising young men and women from Vietnam in American colleges, had stationed several in the schools of higher learning in Fullerton. Two of these young people, in happier days past, fell in love on American soil and wished to be married. Asked to perform the ceremony was Associate Pastor Phillip Lewis of Calvary.

"Little did we know what it would lead to," he recalls now.

That was six years ago and as the situation darkened in South Vietnam and the students in this country slowly began to realize that they would soon have no country to return to, concern began to grow that loved ones left behind might be caught in the misfortunes of war.

Where known persons' futures were in danger in embattled Vietnam, and Calvary Church was informed of the gravity of the situation, the church immediately began to help in any way possible.

"We found sometimes that just by signing a little piece of paper that it would assure a person's safe departure from the war-ridden country," Rev. Lewis recalls now. "we did everything we could but some we were unable to get out," he says with remorse.

Thus thrust early into the problem, Calvary Church and its congregation set about to do what they could to help the homeless people newly arrived on their shores.

"We decided we would sponsor 50 people," Rev. Lewis explains.

Letters To The Editor

Church-State And Illegal Aliens

Copy to the Editor:
[Letter Follows]

Mr. Robert B. Lyons
Mayor, City of Placentia
Dear Honorable Mayor Lyons:

Since you are the representative head of the Placentia City Council, I will address my comments to you intending that the whole Council lend ear to the supplication herein expressed hopeful that these representatives of the community at large may seek more fruitful solutions to two controversial issues affecting, in one case, La Jolla residents and, in another, not only the immediate Placentia community--but the entire County of Orange.

The city of Placentia, to my recollection and experience, has been recognized for its open generosity and concern for the well being of the individual. My own experiences with the City Council, the churches, the schools, and civic organizations has been marked with success due in large part to the goodness of the local citizens comprising their membership. A high regard for nobility of principal has been the guiding spirit behind decisions in this community. Impressions made public by the Placentia City Council currently have reached a state where an excess of polarization has become evident among individuals, organizations, and agencies within the community and country.

Let me take the first concern in which the Placentia Redevelopment Association took action and brought to the attention of the city council. On this particular question, the organization will continue to maintain the stand that the city reverse its policy and permit the Catholic residents of the South Placentia area to use the community center there for Mass Services on Sundays despite the city attorney's scholarly interpretation of the Constitution of the United States which in relative terms is more applicable to a different time, place, and situation. The Catholic residents in the La Jolla community merely ask permission to use the Whitten Building for approximately an hour on Sunday, with or without cost, and need not be regarded as a conspiratorial movement of immense proportions with grandiose religious designs to encroach upon local government. It was not necessary for Mr. Charles Post III, city attorney and mayor of Hermosa Beach, to deliver Mr. Al Garcia, Vice-President of the Placentia Redevelopment Association, a lesson in due process and constitutional law, much to the chagrin of all members present and the general public attending the city council meeting on the night of July 15. Mr. Al Garcia should have been made available a copy of the city attorney's research before the meeting in order that he have had ample time to peruse it and not be made a spectacle by Mr. Post III's obtundity. The fact that a small number of an abandoned church flock who may be in need of transportation to outlying churches and may be facing other forms of deprivation is hardly going to raise the eyebrows of Supreme Court Magistrates on matters of separation of church and state.

Let me proceed with the second issue on which the Placentia Redevelopment Association has yet to discuss and develop a formalized statement. The ramifications of the illegal alien situation in the city on which the Placentia City Council is seeking assistance from the League of Cities verges on the prejudicial licensing of local police authority to intimidate and harass aliens (whether legal or illegal) citizens, and non-citizens by virtue of their physical appearance. I will take the liberty to give my additions to the resolutions prepared already by the League of Cities.

In effect, what the Placentia City Council is proposing has a direct impact on every Mexican American and alien and naturalized citizen of Mexican origin without due consideration to the aftermath once authority is vested on local government to lend all assistance to immigration personnel. The abuse of power by police departments and wrongful decisions made by the individual policemen in the field has resulted in fatalities in the Los Angeles area. We fail to see the impact in our own local communities! Are local citizens ready to accept police invasion of classrooms grades K through 12 to herd known aliens to holding stations? In one case in a nearby community, a thirteen year-old boy was apprehended on the school grounds by immigration authorities without consulting with the parents. What was the ultimate destination of that lone hapless youngster? In this community the Anaheim police in close cooperation with local police authority, an individual with full immigration status was divested of his green card in his home. What terrifying impact did this have on the young thirteen year-old girl who sought me out for assistance after her father's card was held at the Anaheim police station for a number of days? Where would that parent be now if he had been taken into custody in that period of time?

I urge the Placentia City Council to seek means other than harassment to resolve this problem and assert their influence within the League of Cities to state in one of their resolutions to assist these unfortunate peoples achieve full immigration status and provide amnesty for those here now illegally--then bolster border patrol strength and revive the bracero program. This is not unrealistic. There may be over eight million of them (Who masterminded the tally?), but they may have already carved a niche for themselves over the years, for better or for worse, in the total social economy of the nation. The Mexican alien segment of this number deprives no one of anything. I have already expressed an opinion earlier which is included in the enclosed newsletter. The jobs they displace is a myth. I have as yet to see too many American citizens here in the state subscribe to stoop labor and other less tantalizing chores which citizens find unpalatable.

I agree with you, sir, on one point. It is shameful how we take advantage of these people, and they have no recourse to law for protection.

Sincerely,
Albert Perales
Chairman
Placentia Redevelopment Association

"OSHA" is a four-letterword that's giving businessmen fits and is helping drive up consumer costs. And, there is no relief in sight.

One of the youngest federal regulatory agencies, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration since 1970 has had the job of carrying out "the intent of Congress" by devising regulations implementing the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

Congress' intent was to protect the safety and health of the American worker--a commendable goal.

But OSHA's regulations and tactics are something else again--a Catch-22 of arbitrariness that is costing business (and thus consumers) millions of dollars a year.

OSHA's regulations fill a shelf 17 feet long (even Havard Classics took up only five feet), and businessmen are expected to know which ones apply to them if an OSHA inspector drops by. If they don't and their plants don't conform to the regulation, they're subject to stiff fines.

One might have thought that OSHA would have offered an initial no-penalty inspection to a business seeking to learn if it complied, with a grace period for correction deficiencies.

No such luck. If you call for an inspection, you are subject to the same penalties. You can pay your insurance company to make an inspection, but there is no guarantee that OSHA won't come along later and find some overlooked deficiency.

Civil liberties don't count for much with OSHA, either. Its inspectors can barge in on a "no-knock" basis without the owner's permission or a search warrant. It has even had this right confirmed recently by a federal court.

Excess paper work, the security blanket of bureaucrats, is required by OSHA of the businesses it regulates. This torrent of paper and words is reflected in the gobbledygook language of OSHA's regulations, too.

Here is how they define an exit: "That portion of a means of egress which is separated from all other spaces of the building or structure by construction or equipmnet as required in this subject to provide a protected way of travel to the exit discharge..."

Application of OSHA's regulations is almost whimsical.

The owner of a small business in one western state was told he had to install seperate men's and women's rest rooms for his employes. He had only one employe. At home they slept in the same bed and used the same bathroom. She's his wife.

There is more of the same on the way. Antinoise regulations for trucks are now under discussion. One would require truck cabs to be so soundproof that drivers could not hear horns or emergency vehicle sirens.

The solution? A panel of lights in the truck cab which would flash when activated by such sounds. Result? More expensive trucks, higher freight rates and higher costs of the things you buy.

Talk in Washington is serious these days about deregulating (at least partially) the airline, trucking and railroad industries to sharpen competition and lower consumer costs.

There is little evidence that OSHA has accomplished much in the way of saving lives all the while it has been adding heavy cost burdens and creating a bureaucracy with a growing appetite for tax dollars. Yet, there is little talk of reforming or elimination this regulatory labyrinth. It's overdue.

Calvary To Give Field Use

A vacant field, the property of Placentia's Calvary Church may become a playing-practice field, thanks to the generosity of the church and the cooperation of the city and several organizations, including the Valencia Youth Athletic Club.

The 1.75 acre property lies just east of the church and its parking lot at the corner of Chapman Avenue and Alta Street.

Proposed to city council Tuesday night was that the church provide the land, pay for the water and furnish trees and material for a large underground barbecue pit.

The Athletic Club would provide materials and labor to install a sprinkler system and planting material; assist in maintance, lining and marking the fields, sprinkler repair and weeding and help with tree planting and construction of the barbecue.

The city will provide plans for the planting and irrigation system specifications and will mow the property once a week.

To be mutually agreed is that a master calendar be held by the city for scheduling the new facility with church activites receiving top priority.

The church, in the agreement, could give 90 days notice for change of use.

The field would add another facility to athletic grounds, which have been in short supply in Placentia with the ever-growing interest in the athletic activities of Placentia's youth and adults. Regarding this, the city council recently took action to take over Placentia's few lighted fields for local use only, necessitating phasing out of participants from other cities, who are now connected with local teams.

Rev. Phillip Lewis of Calvary Church said eventually the participants would hope to have the field fenced along Chapman Avenue and that the facility could become a practice field for soccer and football and other purposes. It probably will not become a game field, he outlined.

"One very kind thing Edward Backs did before his death," Rev. Lewis recalled "he had this land redeeded to give us all the mineral rights so that the property would not be disturbed".

Fire Union Seeks Hold

A request to hold grievance procedures at the third echelon has been instituted by members of the Placentia Fire-fighters Local 2147, AF of L, CLO until a decision is made by the Placentia City Council as to whether the city will elect to merge its fire department with that of Orange County.

Capt. Steve Brown of the local department reported that the request has been made through proper channels. If accepted, it would hold the grievance process at city administrator level, after passing the batallion chief and the fire chief, Brown reported.

The fourth level, after administrative staff is a paid state conciliator, Brown stated.

Spokesmen for the city said that there is no imminent decision on the status of the fire service as details still need to be worked out with the county as to cost.

The grievances in process concern the status and situation of employees allegedly involved in breaking of rules involving thefts from vacant city buildings. The investigation has led to theft charges and termination of four firemen and a 30 day suspension of four others, since put back to work by the court order which returned all firemen to their posts after a walk out-lock out that lasted a week.

The theft charges will be heard in court on September 10 and the determination of whether the firemen's act was a walk out or lock out on September 30.

TRI-CITY PARK

A meeting of the Tri-City Park Authority, will be held Wednesday, August 6 in the Placentia City Hall at 7 p.m. The authority, composed of members from Fullerton, Brea, Placentia and Orange County, guides the destiny of Tri-City Park, located in the apex of the three cities at the northwest corner of Placentia. Development of the park is still in the planning process.

people in the truck at the time of the crash nor against the vehicle. Reportedly, no one else was injured.

Also expected to become an issue in the suit is that the girl's parents had not given permission for her to leave campus and had an order at El Dorado High School that they were to be called immediately if their daughter was absent from a class.

Staff at the Placentia Unified School District office said this week that there would be no comment on the law suite and that the claim has been turned over to the insurance carrier.

Mrs. Nerone stated also regarding the accident that she believed if the city of Placentia had had a paramedics team at the time, that her daughter's life might have been saved.

The pretty coed, who was a talented musician and member of the El Dorado High School Drama Club, had attended Valencia High School originally but had later transferred to the El Dorado campus. The Nerones also have two other children.

The Golden Hawk yearbook this year is dedicated to five El Dorado students including Mary Nerone, Cathy Harmon, who lost her life in a moving vehicle accident on campus and Thomas Michelle, a student who had undergone open heart surgery and was stricken in the school gymnasium. Others are Nikki Harp and Tom Henderson.

Dr. Peterson In New Post

Dr. Barbara Peterson, assistant superintendent of instructional services in the Placentia Unified School District, has resigned her position to accept a teaching post in the Graduate School of Education at California State University, Fullerton. She will leave the district August 15.

In addition to her university teaching duties, she will serve as a regional coordinator for a federal grant designed to eliminate sex bias in educational curriculum, staffing and promotion, working with 14 California school districts.

She also will work as special projects administrator with the Educational Management Institute, the arm of the Association of California School Administrators (ACSA) which designs professional development for administrators throughout the state.

Dr. Peterson has been with the Placentia Unified School District since 1973 and has been instrumental in implementing evaluation procedures to determine how children learn and how much they learn

During her two years in Placentia, the district has concentrated on teaching reading skills. Year-end reading tests indicate that students throughtout the district score considerably higher than the national average

Other achievements have included developing, organizing and producing materials for all phases of curriculum throughout the district, including language arts and math. New courses in consumer and career education have been put into the schools at all levels, in accordance with trustees' desires and recommendations of community needs.

"I feel my work in Placentia was a valuable professional experience, and I have enjoyed working with the many fine teachers, administrators and other staff members in the district," Miss Peterson said. "However, I am excited about the new opportunities open to me."

The district has not announced a replacement for the assistant superintendency, according to Supt. John Tynes.

HAPPY COUPLE--Bill and Helen McGrady are proud of the refreshing fountain in their newly opened Main St. shop The Plant Lady. They invite the public to visit the new location and enjoy the surroundings and the merchandise. The Plant Lady is a lifelong dream of the McGrady's that has come true.

McGrady's Find YL Ideal Town

A family looking for a small town in which to live and bring up their children and to establish a business discovered Yorba Linda as the ideal location to realize both ambitions.

"We were looking for a small town with a rural atmosphere that could provide the 'good life' and we found it in Yorba Linda," according to Bill and Helen McGrady.

They moved here in 1973. Son Larry was an Esperanza High graduate this June. Tim will be a senior next school term and Kathy will be in the junior class.

After getting settled into the community Bill and Helen began their quest to find a location for the "Plant Lady."

"Opening of the Plant Lady was a long time dream. It was a matter of finding the right location and we wanted to stay in Yorba Linda," the pair said. "We were lucky to find a little shop on Main Street that presented quite a challenge." That spot was at 4898 Main St.

After many days and nights of hard work the McGrady's dreams were finally realized. They used common brick, rough lumber and a dancing water fountain to create an outdoor patio effect that they feel has delighted everyone who comes in to the shop.

The Plant Lady opened last week and has already attracted considerable attention. Bill and Helen invite the public to visit, browse and, if inclined, to buy.

Many Enjoy Family Night

A crowd of approximately 100 turned out for Family Night, sponsored by the Yorba Linda Recreation Department, on Friday, July 25. They brought their dinners, which they ate at picnic tables, ate free ice cream, courtesy of Kountry Market and watched a variety of entertainers.

The entertainment included both tap and jazz dancing by Linda Bergh from Charlotte's Academy; a twirling exhibition by Karen Horn, current Miss Yorba Linda; Robert Ruiz and his flamenco guitar; a barber shop quartet, the Last Chants; and a band composed of recreation workers.

This group consisted of Tim Lawson on the organ, Robert Ruiz, lead guitar, Sonja Clemmer, rhythm guitar and Linda Ruiz at the piano.

Drug Team Formed

A program on drug abuse prevention has been funded in the Placentia Unified School District through a federal grant of $7,846, it was learned by district officials this week.

The funding will permit a district team of five to attend a 10-day training session from August 17-27 in Oakland. The session is designed to train personnel in techniques to work with young people in an effort to prevent use and abuse of drugs.

Heading the team will be Dr. Marvin Stewart, director of special projects for the district. Others traveling to Oakland will be Judy Granger, District psychologist; Kerry Abrahams, a teacher at El Dorado High School; Richard Vouga, Assistant principal at Bernardo Yorba Junior High; and Audra Wilson, school nurse at El Dorado.

Upon their return, members of the team will give workshops and train other teachers at junior and senior highs throughout the district in drug prevention methods, Stewart said.

A drug abuse education task force has been at work in the Placentia Unified School District during the past year developing materials and programs for the district's 21 schools. The primary focus has been at the elementary level, helping children to become wise decision-makers.

HORSE TALES

by Joan Johnson

Now that the Equestrian Trails annual convention is over, maybe I can get all my frazzled nerves back together again. We took in $14,000 at the horseshow and this didn't even include the gymkhana entries, so I guess you could call that a pretty big show!

ETI Corral #94, here in Yorba Linda, has achieved a smashing comeback after several years of relative inactivity.

If my memory serves me right (which it seldom does) this corral was known as the Blackstar Raiders several years ago, changed the name to the Yorba Linda Gringos a few years later, and are now known as the Yorba Linda Country Riders and they're really going places!

Their membership chairman, Sue Lease, very kindly sent me a copy of their August newsletter and it alone is worth the membership price!

This enthusiastic bunch of horsemen has many plans for future activities and are also being quite active in civic projects. They currently have tentative permission from the City to install six badly needed hitch rails at various shopping areas throughout town.

One has already been put up at the new McDonalds and it was occupied by two horses the other day when my daughter and I stopped there for lunch. This should solve the problem of tying to light posts, fences, and what have you.

If any of you readers are as yet unacquainted with ETI, and all the fun derived from being a member, I suggest you contact the Corral #94 president, Ron McRoberts, at 993-3977.

Or, better yet, plan to attend their next meeting on August 6th at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the library.

The program for the evening should be of interest to everyone: a feed expert from Farnam Company will be one guest speaker and the other guest speaker will be Dr. Jim Gleason with a talk on leg care.

All of our horseshow premium lists seem to arrive too late to be included in my column, but a couple of shows you can count on every month is the one at El Rodeo on the first Saturday of the month starting at 3 p.m. and the Riata Riders Corral #40 show at Parnell Park in Whittier on the fourth Saturday of every month, also starting at 3 p.m.

Corral #79 usually holds their shows the fourth weekend of the month, too, with the horseshow on Saturday and gymkhana on Sunday. They're at Rancho del Rio, by the way.

Until next week.....

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By John Payne
Owner-Reg. Pharmacist

Not everyone deserves a pat on the back, especially if he's got something caught in his windpipe! Contrary to popular opinion, just about the worst thing you can do for someone who's choking is to pound him on the back. That could easily force whatever is causing the trouble back into the larynx, producing the first step toward fatal asphyxiation.

The best thing to do is to put the victim across a bed or chair, face down with his chest, head and shoulders hanging free, so that natural breathing will be assisted and the obstruction loosened.

Sensible precautions and home aids are fine, but one should consult his doctor without delay in all emergencies, then phone or bring his prescription to us. LINDA VISTA PHARMACY specializes in fine, professional prescription service. We deliver, promptly and at no extra charge.

HANDY HINT: Place small items like socks and handkerchiefs in mesh bags. They wash beautifully and there is no need to fish for them in hot water.

LAKE PARK RIPPLES

by Margaret Rhoads

After our combined Fourth of July and Bicentennial Bash, we in Lake Park have sort of set aside this month for vacations, visitors and just doing our own thing.

The Weinarts have just returned from a three month motor coach tour taking them as far as the New England states. The Stantons took the coastal route to Washington and back. Having lived in Maine, they were anxious to compare the coasts. Now they are undecided which is the prettier.

The Kirge's just returned from a trip to Minnesota and Nebraska where they visited Lew's mother. Before leaving they had visitors from Washington and Oregon. Marge was especially delighted for among them were her two lovely granddaughters, Lisa and B.J., her daughter-in-law Cindy Judland and her sister Barbara and their mother Mrs. Gafferey.

The Klingman's are enjoying their more spacious coach entertaining visitors from Akron, Ohio and their son and family from Hawaii.

Mark and Mable Kelly, former Lake Parkers are here from St. Louis, Mo. visiting friends. Their trip was twofold, they also came to attend the wedding of Nancy Brown.

Gur welcome mat this month is out to our new Lake Parkers: John and Jane Dressen, they are each almost native Californians. John's birth state is Iowa and Jane's Wisconsin. Both came to California as mere children and discovered they arrived here on the very same day.

Their former home was in El Monte. John is with Southern California Edison Company. His favorite pasttime is golfing, but he also gets in bowling and is loyal to the Angels. Jane is executive secretary and office manager for Congressman Wiggins. She joins John in his bowling enthusiasm.

Bill and Tommie Ballard came to California from Oklahoma. Before moving to Lake Park, they lived in Sun City, Riverside and Fullerton. Bill likes fishing and Tommie likes sewing. They have mutual interests in antiques.

Several groups have attended the Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters. Virgie Cole joined Kathy Klingbeil and her son Paul and his fiancee, Yvonne. It was the first time for Virgie and Yvonne and their remarks were, "There is nothing to compare it to."

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown announce the marriage of their daughter Nancy to Sam Ramfolo. Following the wedding a beautiful reception was held at the pavilion in Lake Park.

We were privileged to have Mr. Carmen Johnston come to our general meeting with the recently chartered paramedics unit to show us and explain their facilities and services. We feel most fortunate to have an emergency unit such as this right here at our back door.

Fate has left its scars on Lake Park in the past few weeks. Russ Sampson lost his strong battle with life. Russ was most active in Lake Park, serving as President of Lake Park Club 1963-64. He will surely be missed by his many friends.

The most recent void is Margaret Hayter, who passed away after a lengthy illness. Her spirit, charm and beauty will remain in the hearts of her vast friendships here in Lake Park and her many friends in the community.

Shakespeare On Tour

BY CLAIREE TYNES

Would Shakespeare's plays be X-rated by today's criteria? If you would like to find out for yourself, "Measure for Measure" is the one from which you should draw your conclusions.

By far the most revealing as far as Shakespeare's attitude toward the society of his day, this vehicle runs the gamut of betrayal of duty to government, seduction, character assaination, blackmail, duplicity, accusation of the highest official of the day being a virgin-violator, subsequently a general house cleaning and finally "every one lived happily ever after"--almost.

Unrivaled in the art of developing ideas with words, Shakespeare is always a mental challenge and sometimes a deeply soulful experience.

The Friends of the Library in Placentia will be touring by bus to the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park, San Diego, Saturday, August 16.

The tour will depart a 9 a.m. from the Placentia Library, 411 E. Chapman Avenue and will arrive at Blaboa Park at 10:30 a.m. where free mini-buses provide transportation to three museums, art shops, park and restaurant. Lunch will be taken either picnic style or at a will-reputed restaurant.

At 2 p.m. the performance of "Measure for Measure" will be enjoyed and the tour will return to Placentia at 6:30 p.m. The fee for the entire day is $10 and a few reservations are still available. For further information call 524-6885 or 528-6198.

Prof. Yung To Entertain At Library

With a wave of a wand you'll be amazed, amused and astounded by Professor Yung. The world's "yungest" wizard, clown entertainer and magician, the Placentia Library reports this week.

For fun filled entertainment come to the placentia Library on Tuesday, August 12, at 2 p.m.

There is still time to join the Summer Reading Club and Join us in our "Happy Birthday" celebration, the library explains.

Local Lady On Dimes Exec Board

Mrs. John (Peggy) Muirhead, of Yorba Linda, has recently been elected to the Executive Board of the Orange County Chapter, The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Mrs. Muirhead, mother of three daughters, Natalie, 12; Pamela, 11; and Victoria, 7, has a vital interest is seeing that all children are born healthy and a deep interest in the fight to prevent birth defects.

"Some 55,000 babies die in infancy each year; more than 200,000 newborns enter the world annually with physical or mental handicaps. This damage could be greatly reduced", Mrs. Muirhead said, "if we all give our attention to better maternal and infant care."

Mrs. Muirhead has had past experience with the March of Dimes.

KATIE'S COLUMN or DOWN ON THE FARM by Kay Starr

At last the blooms on the tomato plants are turning into little green fruit. The latest count shows 13 potential tomatoes. Oh boy, salads, BLT's, and so forth. Watching the tomatoes takes my mind off the pine cone. It's been a whole week since I last looked at the cone. Such restraint.

We talk a lot about Christmas in July, especially since I was so clever to have my first child on July 25th, however we never really do much more than talk. This year our frustrations and longings for larger quarters were resolved on "Christmas in July" day.

That's right, we're moving. Not far away, just a ways from the center of town. My little one was so excited that she packed that very night. I'm sure glad we don't move very often because it is a gigantic chore, altho it might be simpler if we did move more then we wouldn't accumulate so much junk.

So anyway, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus, operating right here in Yorba Linda during the summer. Like the rest of us, he's moonlighting to make ends meet.

Usually, I don't agree with the EPA rulings about pesticides, but this time I have to admit that the removal of chlordane from the market will probably be in the best interests of several of my friends, me too.

Use of chlordane at the farm has been mainly to control fleas. The material works very well, but the fumes cause the human problems.

My neighbor and I suffered from irritated eyes and throat the last time the material was sprayed around the exterior of the apartments. Others experience similar problems but to a much more severe degree.

It is just as well that the chemical be banned from use. Perhaps this will give scientists incentive to provide another type chemical for the same control usage but without the toxic effects. Let's hope they will.

Perhaps you haven't noticed the smog lately, but driving out to Hemet through Riverside the past week was almost unbearable. Beautiful Hemet was socked in, no mountains visible, just terrible.

Well, I have a partial solution to this problem. From 6 a.m. Saturday morning until 10 p.m. Sunday evening every other week, everything that produces polluting fumes will shut down, I mean everything.

My son says that will do nicely for Monday and Tuesday, but what about the rest of the week? I'll work on that next.

An incident this week brought to my attention the lack of courtesy to our young people that might bring hostile reactions from this group of people. My daughter has a part-time job at a factory located within a long bike ride of our home.

She rode to her job and was informed that they didn't need her that evening. She expressed her anger at having to ride all the way there and home again for nothing, when a little phone call would have taken care of the problem.

Gripping Story At Friend's Church

JOYCE LANDORF

When Joyce Landorf and her husband reached the depths of marital disharmony, each of their thoughts turned privately to what they feared was the only remaining answer: suicide.

The ensuing chapters in their lives demonstrate the remarkable work of Christ in performing an eleventh hour miracle, which saved not only their marriage but their lives.

This exciting chronicle will be told by the woman who lived it during a trio of progams at 8:30, 9:45, and 11:00 a.m. Sunday, August 10th at the Yorba Linda Friends Church.

Overwhelmed by five years of lackluster marital life, Mrs. Landorf says she began to feel herself devoid of emotion. Each night brought the need for a herculean effort to sleep, as tenseness over her deteriorating family life welled within her.

Once asleep, her rest was fitful. She remembers lying awake thinking, "If I could only escape the frantic jumble of problems by just slipping my head under the covers forever."

On a particularly despondent morning after her husband had left for the office and the children for school, Mrs. Landorf made up her mind--death would solve all her problems.

As she stood with razor blade poised for a life-draining cut into her wrist, Christ revealed His love for Mrs. Landorf in such a way that caused her to turn from despair to grasp hope and a new life.

Her conversion to Christ that same afternoon, and how she and her husband began a new life, weaves one of the most fascinating stories ever told.

STUDY SESSION

The Placentia Planning Commission will hold a study session on Thursday, August 7 in the Conference Room of the Placentia City Hall. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m.

RefugeeDadDying; Family To Come Here

The United Methodist Church of Yorba Linda is preparing to welcome the Hangse Family, refugees from Cambodia. There are tragic circumstances which makes this sponsorship of a refugee family distinctive from the many other sponsorships now taking place.

Samarut Hangse, the father, is 45 years old, suffering from terminal cancer and is not expected to live. He is in the Naval Hospital in San Diego. The family is staying near the hospital under the temporary sponsorship of the First Church of the Brethren in San Diego. Upon the anticipated death of the father the family will come to Yorba Linda to live.

The mother is Sron, age 38 and a housewife. The 18 year old son, Serath speaks some English, has worked in a pharmacy and will be able to take a job after they are settled. The daughter, Sochitra, 16, also speaks some English.

The local church is currently preparing for the arrival of the mother and two children. Needed is temporary housing, as close to the church and its membership as possible; information on economical housing or an offer to share a home with the family until other arrangements can be made.

It is felt that this sharing would enable the Hangse family to become used to the area and familiarize them with the congregation.

Household items are needed for the family when they are ready to locate here. Persons wishing to donate items may contact Mary Disney at 528-1948; Ann Mitchell at 528-2457 or Dorothy Wallingsford at 528-3778.

The church is also seeking financial support for the sponsorship of the family. It is anticipated that $500 a month for a period of six months will be needed. Members of the church are requested to indicate what type of support they will accord this project, either financially, with housing, transportation or in other ways.

Kit Return Urged By Chairman

Lenora Vanderburg (Mrs. E. R.), Fullerton, 1975 residential crusade chairman for Orange County's American Cancer Society, issued an appeal to all county residents to aid in speeding up the return of the society's neighbor-to-neighbor kits.

"I am asking people to please pass along the kits and to keep them moving. Many of our volunteers may be on vacation or, with summer activities, may have forgotten to pick up the kits.

"So, if anyone has a kit which has circulated throughout the neighborhood and which should be picked up, please call the American Cancer Society at 752-8600."

The county crusade chairman said that the residents of Orange County are responding generously to support the cancer society's research, public education and service to cancer patients and their families.

She said that $13,000 more is needed to realize the $135,000 county goal

WINE, WORKERS, WIGGINS--That's the intriguing title of the Saturday, August 16 event at which 39th Congressional District Representative, Charles Wiggins, will salute Republican Party workers who will be involved in his 1976 reelection campaign. The event will be from 4 to 7 p.m. at the American Spirit Club, 606 E. Chapman, Orange. With Wiggins is Mrs. Doris Knauft, lett, City Chairman for Yorba Linda, and Marge Helendar as plans for the party are discussed.

Veteran Service New Here

Home loans, discharge upgrade, and educational benefits are a few of the benefits that the Orange County Veterans Advisory Council are attempting to inform veterans about through its Outreach program.

Recently created by the Orange County Board of Supervisors, OCVAC is engaged in researching the needs, coordinating programs and informing all Orange County veterans about the many programs available to them.

OCVAC's Outreach program is designed to provide information and counseling to the Orange County veteran at the local level.

One of the three operating centers is in Placentia, and is staffed by Vet/Split Job Outreach Assistants. These centers will work with the local community to assist vets with problems such as benefit information, discharge upgrade and employment.

The Placentia office is located in the Backs Community Center at 201 N. Bradford. Mike Higgenbotham, a student at Cal State Fullerton, is in charge of the office.

With the nearest VA facilities located in Santa Ana or Los Angeles many veterans hesitate to contact them for one reason or another. The establishment of Outreach offices will help alleviate this problem by providing county veterans services on the local level, the organization believes.

BIBLES NEEDED

Persons who have extra, used Bibles are encouraged to give them to the First Presbyterian Church of Orange, who are collecting used Bibles to send to the people in Cameroon, Africa, but the price of new Bibles there is astronomical the church reports. Donations may be brought to the church office, at the Placentia Presbyterian Church.

COMMENTS FROM CALVARY
by R.W. CUNNINGHAM

WE ARE INDEPENDENT WHAT THIS MEANS

There are several different kinds of Baptist basically similar in doctrine. CALVARY BAPTIST can be identified in the following three ways:

1. CALVARY BAPTIST IS AN INDEPENDENT CHURCH. This means we recognize no external authority or hierarchy. We own our property, govern our own affairs in a congregational way and are free to choose our own Sunday School material.
2. CALVARY BAPTIST IS A FUNDAMENTAL CHURCH. We are literalists in the interpretation of Scripture, evangelistic in all of our programs, and earnestly contend for the faith without being cantankerous.
3. CALVARY BAPTIST IS A MISSIONARY CHURCH. We are presently sending monthly support to 12 missionary projects. We send our money directly to our missionaries with nothing being deducted by a denominational office. When we send $50.00 to a missionary, he receives the entire $50.00

We are INDEPENDENT as far as man is concerned, but we recognize our TOTAL DEPENDENCE is upon God.

Assignment Changes

Kenneth Lorge, who is serving as summer school principal at Sierra Vista Elementary School in Placentia, will assume duties as administrative intern at Wagner Elementary when school opens in September, it was announced this week.

He will spend half time working on administrative duties at the kindergarten-through-sixth grade school and the other half as a teacher of Educationally Handicapped / Learning ability (EHLD) students.

Principal Dorothy Freeman will be freed halftime to plan and write curriculum for mentally gifted students in the Placentia Unified School District, explained superintendent John Tynes in announcing the changes.

The present EHLD teacher Corah Dalton, will work halftime with EHLD students and the rest of the time in the Wagner counseling program. Last year she performed counseling duties after school hours, working as a fulltime EHLD teacher.

Lorge has been with the Placentia Unified School District since 1970 and taught second grade at Fairmont Elementary last year. He participated in the district's management training program during the year and was assigned to plan and administrate a summer school.

Chief Cautions Cyclists

Brea Chief of Police Robert Wasserman, noting that August is one of the peak months for motorcycle traffic collisions, recently asked motorcyclists to take extra precautions.

According to Wasserman, statistics released by the California Office of Traffic Safety show that--

* half of all motorcycle collisions occur in zones posted for 35 mph or slower, *riders with less than six months experience are involved in collisions twice as often as other drivers

* a passenger on a motorcycle is more likely to be killed than the driver,

* use of headlights during daylight hours reduces chances of a collision, and

* helmets "substantially reduce" severe head injuries in motorcycle accidents.

Wasserman also suggested motorcyclists not ride heavily travelled streets until they are familiar with the motorcycle and with street riding.

SAFE AT HOME was the subject for discussion at the recent meeting of the Placentia Jaycees. Placentia Police Department Agent Roger Geisler gave some timely tips on making your home and property safe from burglars.

Jaycees Hear Safety Tips

Making your home and property safe from burglars was the subject of a talk by Placentia Police Department Agent Roger Geisler, before a general meeting of the Placentia Jaycees.

Home burglaries in the Placentia area have increased 100 per cent in the past year and are now the most prevalent crime in Placentia, Agent Geisler reported.

Tips on preventing burglaries and proper locks and dead bolts to use as well as types not as serviceable were demonstrated by the police agent.

Illustrating the talk were visual aids and small replicas of windows and door hardware to graphically describe recommended procedures to make a home burglar-proof.

Jaycees will hold their next general meeting Wednesday, July 2 at B.J.'s Restaurant in Anaheim at 7:30 p.m. with a program on the internal functions within a Jaycee club, the organization reports.

"Peggy's Pointers"

There are many woods used today in furniture. When looking for good wood furniture, there are several things which are important.

Many manufacturers use particle board to build a good table or chest. Particle board is made up of varying sizes of wood chips which are then fused with various glues and extreme pressure to create a durable, non-warping and solid sheet of material. Then the particle board is covered with a thin sheet of wood and laminated to the particle board. This is called a veneer. Most pieces of furniture using rare woods such as rosewood, walnut, or teak are done this way. The particle board is a very stable base upon which to build good furniture, and because it does not warp, it provides a suitable surface for the veneers.

The way to tell if a piece of furniture is made well is to look at corners and edges. They should be all finished off, and no particle board should be visible. It should be inside the cabinet with the edges finished off with veneer, or should be under a table top.

Next week, I'll go into more detail about various techniques of furniture construction.

Fondly,

Peggy

Vietnamese Families At Home Here

"When we are able to get a family self-sustaining then we would draw more from Camp Pendleton, keeping the number at 50."

"We learn as we proceed. At first we would find them a place to stay and put them there, but this gave them no choice nor participation in their future. Now we have a lengthier process. Families coming from the camp first move in with the student in the Fullerton area to become oriented and from there we provide them with as good a selection of places to live as we can find and they make the decision. After all, it is their future and they may be there for quite awhile," the minister reasons.

The families and individuals under the sponsorship of the church run the gamut of occupations. The family of Dr. Tom That Niem, the former Minister of Public Health of South Vietnam is among the group with others of high educational backgrounds. There is a refrigerator repairman, an automobile mechanic a merchant marine and a purchasing agent.

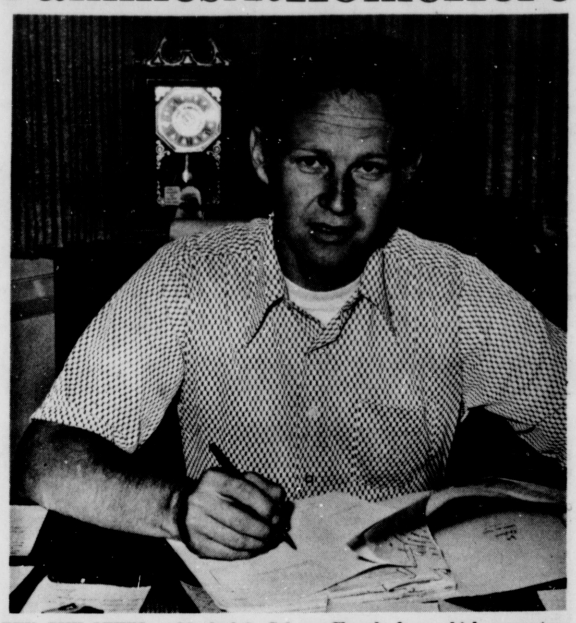
The church is assuming the responsibility of seeing that the people they sponsor have a place to live and are clothed and fed. After a residence is located, English lessons begin for all ages.

The youngsters learn English on the ground floor of the church and upstairs the adults are attending class, taught by Elcho Redding, an Orange Coast College second language expert, who is approaching his doctor's degree. The Reddings, members of Calvary Church are also the core of a group of international students who gather once a month at their home for sociability and fellowship. Although Redding does not speak Vietnamese, he is able to teach his willing students the English he does know.

"Some families need quite a bit more help than others," Rev. Lewis explains. "Calvary Church is more than happy with the response."

There are a number of problems that must be solved, however, Rev. Lewis outlines and one is transportation. The refugees of course, have no drivers licenses.

(Next: What Placentia citizens can do to help their new neighbors and if they choose, assist with the ambitious program started by Calvary Church.)



REV. PHIL LEWIS--at his desk in Calvary Church, from which emanates many active programs sponsored by the Calvary congregation. Among these is a long range Vietnamese project with the church dedicated to assisting 50 refugees on a continuing basis. The church is located at Bradford and Chapman Avenues, Placentia.

ENGLISH AS A FIRST LANGUAGE--for these bright Vietnamese students, who are already fluent in Vietnamese and usually French. The informal classroom is set up in a room at Calvary Church, conducted by Elcho Redding, language specialist at Orange Coast College, Costa Mesa. Students are Lam Thanh, Nguyen Duy Dung, Lam Xinh, Ton Nu Que Phuong, Tom That Chau, Phan-Thi Dinh and Nguyen-Thi Nguyet [not visible]. First names are written last.

Bob Davis Elected Ruler

The membership of the newly formed Placentia-Yorba Linda Elks Lodge #2536 has ratified the election of Robert E. Davis, Placentia, as exalted ruler, announced Leonard L. Gutmann, district deputy grand exalted ruler.

Andy Anderson, Yorba Linda, was elected leading knight, Gutmann said.

Other elected officers include:

Max Maizuss, loyal knight, Placentia; Richard Dennick, lecturing knight, Yorba Linda; Charles Parker, secretary, Placentia; Ted Efron, treasurer, Yorba Linda; Eric Shippam, esquire, Fullerton; Eugene Plett, chaplain, Placentia, and John Hornback, inner guard, Placentia.

The new lodge, formed in February, received its dispensation in June.

"As soon as we sign our 250th member we can apply for our charter," Davis noted. "Therefore, we urge all gentlemen over 21 living or working in the Placentia-Yorba Linda area to attend our next meeting and become a charter member by joining now."

The lodge meets each Thursday, 7:30 p.m., at the Tlaquepaque Restaurant, 111 W. Santa Fe St., Placentia. Davis said the initiation fee is $35, and the annual dues, payable in equal increments twice a year, is $36.

"We are also looking for proper facilities to house our membership at the time we are chartered," Davis pointed out. "Eventually, we anticipate about 1,000 members. We realize such facilities are at a premium in Placentia, and we would appreciate hearing from those property owners who now have suitable space, or will have in the near future."

Davis said the lodge can be contacted at 524-7670.

Y Swimmers Place In Meet

John Mykkanen and Debbie Geary, Placentia members of the North Orange County YMCA Swim Team, placed in the Orange County Swim Conference Championships held Saturday at Newport Harbor High School.

Both are in the 7 to 8 age groups.

Mykkanen took fourth place in butterfly with 16.5 seconds and Miss Geary ninth place in breast stroke with 21.8 seconds.

Both took second on a medley relay and third in the free relay.

The North Orange County YMCA Swim Team brought the Orange County Swim Conference season to an end with a three way tie for first place, winning 6 out of 7 meets.

Dedication Of Fountain Is Postponed

The dedication of Placentia's quarter-million dollar Veteran's Fountain, a present to the city from Mrs. Angeline Backs and the late Edward Backs, has been postponed until Sunday, September 7.

Richard Samp, the city's director of Recreation and Maintenance Services, said that the arrangements were incomplete for the announced August 10 date and therefore had been postponed. August 10 is also Mrs. Back's birthday.

The September 7 ceremony will include an appearance by 11th Naval District Band form San Diego as well as participation by Placentia's American Legion Post and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The fountain stands on the site of the old American Legion Hall, a well-known landmark, torn down after its purchase by the Backses to expand the park.

Edwin Powell, City Administrator will be master of ceremonies for the event and a veteran's plaque will be unveiled. Also in attendance will be a joint color guard representing all four services of the armed forces.

Also attending the dedication will be political figures of the area, including local, county, state and national, Samp stated. Invitations are expected to be mailed in the near future.

The fountain is located at the southwest corner of Kraemer Park.

Young Governor Jerry Brown has indicated that he won't be helping his political party in next year's presidential primary race as is usually expected of elected officials. Brown bluntly told reporters last Friday, "Look, I politiked for a year running up and down this state, raising money (for the Governor's race last year). I've done my chores...Now I am doing what I was elected to do -- running this state."

At another televised interview a reporter asked Brown if he didn't feel that he owed something to the party that had helped him win a majority vote. Brown snapped back, "I did not receive a majority of votes. Mr. Flournoy did not receive a majority of votes. The majority of voters did not vote."

Obviously those non-voters bother the Governor and they should. It should bother everyone who ever ran for a post, whether they won or lost. It bothers a lot of us who have never been involved in politics.

It is a problem that has plagued our democratic system for many years. How do you get free people to cast their votes? It could be solved through our tax structure. Property owners are given a homeowners exemption in this state of $1750, if they reside on the property, thus encouraging home ownership. By the same token, parents are allowed a deduction for each dependent child. Well, why not give a tax deduction for each adult who votes? A $50 or $100 deduction from taxable income, for each time a person voted with a maximum of $200 per voter, per year would seem reasonable.

It would be a simple and effective way to get the vote out, to cut down on voter apathy and find out the direction the citizens of this country really want to go. It could be the most exciting experiment in many years, assuming it would be tried on a temporary basis first.

A lot of politicians won't like the idea; it would mean an end to their reign the next time they were up for re-election. For instance, what chance would Congressman Andrew Hinshaw whose fancy shenanigans have ended with several of his former workers entering prison for cheating the County of Orange, have in a reelection campaign if 90% of the voters went to the polls? Or a guy like Congressman Jerry Patterson who rewarded two of his campaign workers with posts in his Washington office though they were found guilty of vote fraud? Men like that should not be in Washington, in my opinion.

In addition, its doubtful that a Watergate scandal would occur in a country with 90% of the voters registering their decisions and choices at the polls.

This country encourages private ownership of property by way of tax deductions etc. Isn't it at least equally important to encourage voters to go to the polls?

$100,000,000 Returned

Efforts of the Orange County Office of Consumer Affairs, an agency created by the orange County Board of Supervisors to mediate consumer-business complaints, have resulted in the return of one million dollars in restitution to consumers, Jim Shimanoff, Director, announced this week.

To better serve the citizens of Orange County, ten branch offices, each open one day a week, have been established in outlying cities including one in Placentia.

The Placentia service is conducted at the Chester Whitten Community center, 900 South Melrose, on Wednesdays. Louie Paneque is in charge and can be reached at 993-8133.

Restitutions have increased each year since the office was established in March, 1972 with that year accounting for 1,614 complaints and $113,058.52 returned.

In 1973 there were 3,650 complaints and $262,892.49 returned and in 1974, 4,719 complaints and refunds of $423,552.22. In the first six months of 1975, 2,698 complaints have resulted in returns of $203,484.57.
